

FIGHTING HUNGER

Together, We Can Make A Difference

This April, we are asking businesses across the Missouri Heartland to take action, alongside our troops, against hunger by collecting non-perishable food items at their places of business and donate them to community food banks and pantries.

Food insecurity affects every corner of our council—rural, urban, and suburban alike. More than 715,000 Missourians, including 177,000 children, struggle with food insecurity. That means one in seven households may not know where their next meal is coming from.

This project is an opportunity for businesses to take action and help create a lasting impact in our communities.

Check the back of this flyer for instructions, reporting details, and a list of community partners you can support.

Participate & Earn This Patch!

Businesses that join the service project and submit their impact report will receive the Fighting Hunger patch.

Is your business interested in participating in the Fighting Hunger Service Project?

Your business's efforts will help provide much-needed food to families across our communities. To ensure we track the collective impact, please follow the instructions and submit your business's report.

Every donation and act of service makes a difference.
